WILSON'S REPLY WIRELESSSED TO ALL THE WORLD HAIG'S THIRD AND FOURTH ARMIES SMASH LINE

Work of Reaching Valenciennes
Hammered Forward by The British.

Six Thousand Prisoners and Many Guns Taken.

New Thrust Shakes The Hun
Defenses Badly.

and Gain South of Mont

(Associated Press War Editor)

Field Marshal Haig's third and fourth armies having smashed through the outer defenses of the strategically important German line south of Valenciennes continue successfully to hammer their way toward Maubeuge and Mons.

NEW FRONT

Today's attack started from the new front gained Wednesday in an advance of between three and four miles on a front of fifteen miles in which more than 6,000 prisoners and many guns are reported to have been taken. The enemy is resisting stubbornly but the British are forging ahead, capturing villages and other important points.

Apparently the British are not desirous of taking Valenciennes by fighting the Germans in the streets of the town, but plan to outflank it. The town is now partly surrounded and the menace to it has been increased by advances on the south and capture of the entire Raisomes forest to the north.

DEFENSES SHAKEN

The British thrust undoubtedly has badly shaken the German defenses south of Valenciennes which are so important to the security of the German line northward to the Dutch border and south and east of the Meuse.

Unless the enemy can hold the British attacks today it would seem they would have to continue their retreat in Belgium and also give up and south and east of the Meuse.

While the British are attacking north of the Sambre canal to the Scheldt the French have begun an offensive south of the Oise.

The Sambre canal has been crossed east of Grand Verly, and the French have maintained their pressure against strong German counter attacks.

FRENCH GAIN

Between the Serre and the Oise and further east the French maintained their pressure and gained ground south of Mont Cornet. Infantry fighting has died down east of the Aisne in the region of Vouziers, the Germans having failed in strong efforts Tuesday and Wednesday to dislodge the French from important positions.

DEFILES HELD

General Gouraud now commands the important defiles north and south of the great forest of Boult, north of the Argonne. On the front west of the Meuse the Americans maintained the important gains made Wednesday and are in a zone.

The enemy has been using his artillery and machine guns freely along the entire front. There has been little change in the situation since last night.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Washington, October 24. — For the first time since the influenza began spreading through the army camps the weekly health reports of the Surgeon General show a decrease in both hospital admission rates and in deaths.

ON THE SCHELDT

Toward Ghent the French and Belgians appeared to be stopped. The Scheldt river and network of small waterways there provide the Germans with a natural defense.

BERLIN DOUBTLESS HAS MOMENTOUS MESSAGE NAUEN TOWER COULD TAKE IT FROM THE AIR NO PEACE POSSIBLE WITH GERMAN AUTOCRATS

Final Decision of Peace Plea of Huns Left to Supreme War Council at Versailles. Co-operation of Allies in Preparation of Reply Seems Evident.

WASHINGTON, OCTOBER 24. — (Associated Press Dispatch) — President Wilson's reply to Germany was sent broadcast to the world from the Arlington naval radio towers last night after the official text had been put on the cables.

If not picked up directly by the great German wireless station at Nauen it undoubtedly was relayed from other points in Europe in time to reach Berlin this morning.

ARMISTICE CONDITIONS OF SURRENDER

WASHINGTON, OCTOBER 24. — (Associated Press Dispatch) — No armistice except under conditions of surrender. No peace with the Kaiser and his war lords now or later.

Thus President Wilson has given in advance his own final decision in informing the new spokesman of Germany that he acceded to their request that he take up with the allies their plea for an armistice and peace negotiations.

The reply to the latest German note has gone on its way to Berlin. It was delivered to Frederick Oederlin, the Swiss chargé here last night at nine o'clock and soon afterward was on the cables in plain English, no time being lost in converting the President's uncompromising sentences into code.

Apparently the exchanges which had been in progress with the allied capitals since the wireless version of the German communication was picked up Monday terminated in the afternoon, enabling the President to reply just 11 hours after the official text had been delivered.

Assurances of the present authorities at Berlin that they represent the German people; that they accept the conditions of peace he has laid down and thus the German armed forces will observe the rules of civilized warfare are accepted by the President, only as changing the situation to warrant him in formally submitting the questions involved to the nations with which the United States is associated in war.

In doing this without mincing words he tells the authorities and through them the German people that the only acceptable guarantee of their words must be submission to terms of an armistice that will make it impossible for Germany to renew hostilities, and that the Kaiser still holds the power to control the empire and that until he and his autocrats are out, surrender and not peace negotiations must be demanded.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Columbus, O., October 24. — No general lifting of present quarantine regulations against the influenza epidemic can be looked for or expected within ten days acting state health commissioner Bauman said today. Nor is there any assurance that there will be any restrictions withdrawn soon after ten days, he said.

Though reports from local health officials had not been checked up at noon Bauman said there is no indication that any infected community is in sight of the end of the epidemic. He said the new cases for the 24 hour period was 5,000.

They said that although the British and French prisoners endured much hardship the Serbians were regularly beaten by their Bulgarian captors and shot without excuse.

CITY AND RURAL SCHOOLS TO OPEN MONDAY NOV. 4TH

The Attractive New Centralized Buildings in Paint Township and at Eber in Union, Will Be Formally Opened at That Time

With the consent of the State Board of Health, the schools of the city and county will be formally reopened on Monday November 4th, it was announced Thursday, by Supt. McClain, of the city schools and Supt. Nelson, of the rural and village schools.

If the schools reopen on the above date, as now indicated, the city schools will have been closed for a period of five weeks, as result of the influenza epidemic, and some of the rural schools have been closed for almost the same period.

The epidemic has visited nearly all parts of the county, and is on the wane generally, with indications that it will be virtually at an end when schools are reopened.

When the schools reopen several new centralized buildings will be used for the first time, including the two attractive new structures at Yatesville and Bookwalter in Paint township, and the one at Eber, in Union township.

The three new buildings represent the very latest thing in centralized buildings, are the pride of all parents and the county generally.

It is believed that closing of the schools generally has speedily brought the influenza epidemic to a halt in some districts where it was just beginning to spread.

ASKS COURT TO SET DEED ASIDE

Charging that she deeded to Alice Smith and James Smith certain property on Fourth street, in return for which the defendants were to care for her the remainder of her life, Rebecca Todd Jackson, in the court of common pleas, has asked the court to set aside the deed and restoration of the property because of failure of the defendants to keep their part of the agreement. Gregg, Payton & Gregg represent the plaintiff.

The transfer is said to have been made on September 18, 1917, when the defendant was in very bad health, and that contents of the deed she signed was never read to her, and she did not know the legal nature of the document.

Plaintiff declares the defendants have wholly neglected her and failed to provide for her in any way.

WRITES BROTHER FROM A CAPTURED GERMAN DUG-OUT

Mr. W. H. Lipsett, Jr., of the Smith-McCormick Construction Company, this city, is in receipt of a letter from his brother H. E. Lipsett, with an engineering corps on the battle front in France and the letter was written in a captured German dug-out. It follows:

"A German Dugout." — October 3rd, 1918.

Dear Brother Bill:

I have a few spare moments of day light this afternoon so will get a few lines off to you. Spare time has been at a premium for the past month and I have been unable to do much writing. We have made another move since I last wrote you or mother and as the artillery and dough-boy advance we too move up, so late we are continually going on toward Berlin. I worked this a.m. and am "at rest" now until supper time when we will go at it again.

I am at present living in a "dug-out" built by the Germans, it makes a very comfortable little home. We have a small stove and sleep in bunks, which makes it very fine these cold nights. I just wish you could see how these Germans were dug in and situated here. It seems almost impossible for them to have been driven out, but nevertheless it was done and things look exceedingly blue for the Kaiser at present.

We can hardly wait to see a paper each day, which are carried to us almost daily by the Red Cross and Y. M. C. A. It is very interesting to be on the ground so recently held by the Boche and we have seen about all in German war material etc., of course a lot of it would be of interest to you folks if it were only possible to send some of the stuff home.

I have no idea how long we will be here. We are all pretty well dug in the side of a hill and for my part I'll hate to move and leave my odd and cosy little home, however, we will probably go on up toward the front at an early date.

While I am writing, I am being entertained by some Boche gunner sending shells over my head which, with their unpleasant whistle are landing with a crash in a little town (all ruins) just a short distance from here. All the towns up here are a complete ruins from shells, but they continue to shell them each day and night thinking there are troops billeted in them.

I am receiving papers etc., from you occasionally, but very little time to read at present. I am feeling O. K. and keeping on my feet, however these are strenuous days and we are all looking for a speedy finish.

Heaps of love for all the folks. Write me often.

OBITUARY

Cora Belle Steele

CoraPelle Steele was born December 9, 1891 and died October 20, 1918 at the early age of twenty-seven years, ten months, and eleven days; she was the only surviving child of John Tillet and Lillie Tillet, three brothers and one sister having preceded her in death.

She was a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, having joined church at the early age of twelve years, and always afterwards an ardent and devoted Christian woman. Her faith in eternity was never shaken. Upon her death bed she frequently announced that she was going home. In all the vicissitudes of her life she never faltered in her endeavor and Christian faith.

She was twice married, the first time to Frank Lanum. To them one child was born, Willard Lanum, who is now about nine years old and who survives her. She was a kind, affectionate, gentle and devoted mother to this surviving child. His needs and wants were always up-most in her thoughts. He was her idol and she bent every energy in properly preparing him for his future life.

She was married to John H. Steele, April 1, 1914, at Newport Kentucky, and who survives her. This was indeed a happy union. Her home life was ideal. She was a devoted, affectionate, earnest and sincere wife. She was the very soul of honor, the personification of loyalty to her husband. She followed ever the path of duty, outlined clearly and unmistakable by a conscience that was responsive always to the noblest impulses of true womanhood. Her warm heart answered in gentle sympathy, the admiration that came from her many friends. Her disposition was gentle kind and courteous. Her many good qualities call to our memory many tender thoughts that touch the heart as we summon them before us, but they are gone, and we remain a little longer to bear the burdens and the cares from which she has escaped. There was no more genial and lovable soul than Cora Belle Steele. She was so strong, so full of energy, and so hopeful for the future that her death came to us all as a peculiar shock, but her memory will be cherished, and her virtues remembered by those of us who admired her character and valued her friendship.

Her untimely and early death must fall like a pall upon her parents because she was the last of their five children. She was most dutiful and obedient towards her parents. She was charitable and benevolent, gentle and kind, always cheerful, always doing something to contribute to the happiness of her devoted father and mother. Their interests and happiness were attributes of her finer soul. One of her chief characteristics was her attention to the little things in life, small things in kindness toward her parents.

We cannot force our visions through the mists and shadows that separate us from our dead. We stand in a mysterious solemn silence and there is no sound save the quick heart beats; but the cable of hope, of faith intertwined with roses, reaches "beyond the smiling and the weeping." Over it we may send our messages of love, and with the listening ear of trust that comes from the Master, we can hear the response from across the shoreless sea, saying:

"All is well."

The Judgment Day

One statement made by Prince Max of Germany we can agree with, now that President Wilson's reply to Germany's latest "peace note" has been delivered to the Swiss charge in Washington—the crisis has come.

The world will soon know whether it is to be peace or war, whether the German people will save themselves while there is yet time or whether they will continue, doggedly, to allow the war lords to complete their destruction.

It is perfectly clear from the reply of President Wilson that the world will have no dealings with the war lords. So far as they are concerned it must be surrender, absolute and unconditional—now and for all time.

The German people must now choose. It is them or the war lords. We may expect soon the announcement of the supreme war council at Versailles on the terms of an armistice.

Then it is acceptance or rejection by the German people. Their action will be the best "concrete evidence" of their sincerity—it will be the only evidence possible and it will enter the final decree in the last struggle between civilization and barbarism.

The day of judgment is at hand.

Americans Agree

Senator Lodge is one of the most brilliant of American statesmen. Like all brilliant political leaders, in his impulsiveness he is sometimes far from right in his positions. His patriotism, however, is of the sturdy type which admits of no question.

The senator from Massachusetts always has something worth while to say on every great development in these stirring times. He has at times been fearless and vigorous in his opposition to and criticism of the administration, but in no instance can it be, justly, said that partisanship was the reason for that opposition, because at other times of crisis he has been just as firm, just as outspoken and just as brilliant in his support of the administration and in many a trying period Senator Lodge has been of tremendous assistance.

In view of his record it is interesting to note that Senator Lodge regards Germany's latest reply to President Wilson's proposals as a "clumsy trap" to catch the United States and prolong a diplomatic controversy.

The course of conduct which the cool, deliberate thought of President Wilson, and his advisors, has dictated may or may not harmonize with the course Senator Lodge and many of the American people believed should have been followed and our impulsive first judgment may have to be revised. At present, however, we believe that the best thing to do—the thing which will compel realization by the Huns sooner than anything else, has been done tell them straight from the shoulder that we demand "unconditional surrender" if autocracy is still in control.

There Seems No Hope

Sometimes in the excitement of the moment, when startling news of the great victories of the allied armies in the field, is wireless or cabled to the anxious world, or when Germany sends a new note suing for peace our hopes get the better of us and we think that after all the German people will act and that the war will end without further loss of life or destruction of property.

Then come the after hours of quiet contemplation—the hours when, after having read the new note carefully two or three times, we begin to realize what it means—what it says and what a woeful number of things it fails to say and realize just how clumsy the deceit and the stubborn determination of the war lords to do just as they please, is disguised and how boldly the ugly purpose of it all stares out at us from around the printed words.

Then we are driven to conclude that there is no use—the German people will not see the light until shot and shell and bayonet tear rents in the armor of conceit and falsehood with which they have encircled themselves.

The war lords seem just as obstinately determined as ever to secure an unfair and an unjust advantage and the German people seem just as firm in their allegiance as ever. They, all of them, war lords and squareheads, persist in sticking to form and avoiding principle. Having failed to conquer the world by force of arms and brutality they are just as determined now, apparently, to conquer by deceit and dishonesty, by complying with form and disregarding the substance.

The old devilish will to conquer by foul means is still there. We have beaten the armies but we have not beaten the surly will, the stubborn dishonesty, nor insufferable egotism.

POEM FOR TODAY

A CHIME FROM

THE LIBERTY BELL.
The Liberty Bell, as it rings today in the midst of this awful war,
Peals forth these words, for it wants to say

What it never has said before,—

I'm seeking an army of children keen
To help destroy the Kaiser.
Those who are thrifty is what I mean,
For saving is always wiser.

Do you want our country to drift away
And he ruled by evil fates?

No. The Kaiser shall never say,
I've conquered the United States!

Inorder to do this, all must save,—
And children can with ease;
Don't buy candy or all you crave,
But Thrift Stamps if you please."

We'll give our Liberty Bell high rank.

And all of us respond,
By saving our pennies in a bank
For a Baby Liberty Bond.

(The above poem was written by Anna Lou Wells, aged 11 years and published in the Woman's Home Companion as a prize poem. Little Miss Wells is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rex W. Wells, of Toledo. Mrs. Wells formerly was Miss Jessie Harsha of this city.)

PNEUMONIA REMEDY

Living in retirement at Littleton, Mass., a former shoe salesman, George L. Brown, wears no Carnegie medals, although he has saved many lives. He is not a hero. He is an elderly, every day man who years ago learned of a simple old-fashioned remedy for pneumonia, and spent his own time and money in exploiting it. He told friends about it. He had copies of the recipe printed and distributed them freely, and during his long life has never known the cure to fail, even after physicians had given up hope. Mr. Brown could substantiate his statement by furnishing names and addresses, but he has never sought notoriety.

A few days ago he requested The Shoe Retailer to print the recipe, and it is a pleasure to comply with his request at this particular time:

"Take six to ten onions, according to size, and chop them fine; place over a hot fire; and about the same amount of rye meal, and vinegar enough to form a thick paste. Stir thoroughly, letting it simmer from five to ten minutes. Then put the mass in a cotton bag large enough to cover the lungs, and apply to the chest as hot as the patient can bear it. Before this gets cold apply another, and then continue by reheating the poultices. In a few hours the patient will be out of danger. Usually three or four applications will be sufficient, but continue treatment until perspiration starts from the chest."

This simple remedy was formulated many years ago by one of the best physicians New England ever knew, and who never lost a patient by this disease.—The Shoe Retailer.

RUSSIAN IDEA

OF THE RED CROSS

(Associated Press Correspondence)

Vladivostok, October 10.—Some Russians have a strange conception of the functions of the Red Cross. The apparently intelligent matron of a Vladivostok home for orphans recently proposed that the Red Cross take over management of all orphan's homes throughout Russia. She thought this could be started with an expenditure of not more than 60,000,000 rubles.

Another modest request from another source was that the Red Cross undertake the rehabilitation and repair of all towns throughout Russia which have suffered from Russia's civil war.

The matron also asked the Red Cross to make the nurses and instructors in her institution behave. She complained that since the Bolsheviks' reign in Vladivostok all sense of discipline had vanished and the young men and women were carrying on high jinks to the detriment of the orphans' welfare.

CHRISTMAS GIFTS FOR #### WAR PRISONERS

Is there anyone in the world who would be as eager to receive a Christmas package as the war prisoners?

Christmas packages for American soldiers in German or Austrian prison camps must be speeded to arrive there on time. One package is allowed each prisoner and preference will be given the one from his parents. Each package must weigh not more than 11 pounds and should bear the soldier's name, regiment and name of the prison camp in which he is confined and the province in Germany or Austria in which the camp is located. The packages must be addressed, "Warehouse, Atlantic Division American Red Cross, No. 20 West Fifteenth Street, New York City." The name and address of the sender, together with the words "Christmas package for American prisoner of war" should appear on the package, which will be forwarded free.

The ambulance was waiting in front of a police station at — when the bomb struck the car, burying it in the shattered walls of a house across the street.

EMERGENCY BUREAUS ESTABLISHED

Emergency bureaus to assist civilian communities and state boards of health in combating the influenza epidemic are to be immediately established at Columbus, Indianapolis and Louisville by the Lake Division Red Cross Committee on Influenza.

The Lake Division, in the past two weeks, has assigned hundreds of nurses to military camps as well as cities and towns stricken with the epidemic, but it was determined at the conference that the increased need for nurses and necessity for promptly assigning nurses to influenza work could be more effectively carried out by setting up emergency bureaus in each state.

These state emergency bureaus, according to a recommendation adopted at the conference, will "search out every agency through which nurses can be secured and who can be released from other duties." They are to use all measures at their command to convince nurses, now engaged in private work, to make a sacrifice, if necessary, in order to assist in the fight against the disease. The bureaus will make every effort to secure widest possible publicity of the existing need for nurses for this work.

The hope was expressed at the conference that nurses could be made to see that nursing civilians ill with influenza is just as important a patriotic and Red Cross duty as nursing soldiers and sailors. It was also pointed out that many civilians are retaining so called "luxury nurses" which could easily be spared to assist in the present emergency.

No nurse will be assigned to influenza work except upon the request of the public health officer of the state, who will receive applications for nurses from the local health officer. The Red Cross state emergency bureaus will pay nurses assigned upon the request of the public health officer, the authorized salary and expenses.

Miss Omaha Bryant spent the past two days at Chillicothe with friends.

Mr. Marion Wilson, south of town who has been quite ill with pneumonia since Monday, is now showing decided improvement.

WIRE BRINGS SAD WORD TO LOCAL TEACHER

Miss Edythe Blackman, of the city corps of teachers has received a telegram giving the sad intelligence of the death of her mother, Mrs. Ella Virginia Blackman, which occurred at Danning, Cal., Wednesday afternoon.

A year ago Mrs. Blackman sustained a nervous break down and in February broke up her home in Lancaster, Ohio, and left for California, in the hope of finding the change beneficial. With her were two sons and one daughter, the other two daughters remaining in Ohio, one in Tuscarawas and Miss Edythe Blackman in this city.

For a short time Mrs. Blackman's health seemed to improve and her children were hopeful of her recovery, but the sad word of today dissipates all hope.

The funeral services and burial will be at Danning.

Miss Blackman had been deeply devoted to her mother and her many friends in Washington are sympathizing sincerely in the great loss and the attendant shock which has come to her.

TEXT OF NOTE

Following is the full text of President Wilson's reply to the German note. It is signed by Secretary of State Lansing:

"Having received the solemn and explicit assurance of the German government that it unreservedly accepts the terms of peace laid down in his address to the congress of the United States on the 8th of January, 1918, and the principles of settlement enunciated in his subsequent addresses, particularly the address of the 27th of September, and that it desires to discuss the details of their application and that this wish and purpose emanated, not from those who have hitherto dictated German policy and conducted the present war on Germany's behalf, but from ministers who speak for the majority of the Reichstag and for an overwhelming majority of the German people, and having received also the explicit promise of the present German government that the humane rules of civilized warfare will be observed both on land and sea by the German armed forces, the president of the United States feels that he can not decline to take up with the governments with which the government of the United States is associated the question of an armistice.

"He deems it his duty to say again, however, that the only armistice he would feel justified in submitting for consideration would be one which should leave the United States and the powers associated with her in a position to enforce any arrangements that may be entered into and to make a renewal of hostilities on the part of Germany impossible. The president has, therefore, transmitted his correspondence with the present German authorities to the governments with which the government of the United States is associated as a belligerent, with the suggestion that, if these governments are disposed to effect peace upon the terms and principles indicated, their military advisers and the military advisers of the United States be asked to submit to the governments associated against Germany the necessary terms of such an armistice as will fully protect the interests of the peoples involved and ensure to the associated governments the unrestricted power to safeguard and enforce the details of the peace to which the German government has agreed, provided they deem such an armistice possible from the military point of view. Should such terms of armistice be suggested, their acceptance by Germany will afford the best concrete evidence of her unequivocal acceptance of the terms and principles of peace from which the whole action proceeds.

"The president would deem himself lacking in candor did he not point out in the frankest possible terms the reason why extraordinary safeguards must be demanded. Significant and important as the constitutional changes seem to be which are spoken of by the German foreign secretary in his note of the 20th of October, it does not appear that the principle of a government responsible to the German people has yet been fully worked out or that any guarantees either exist or are in contemplation that the alterations of principle and of practice now partially agreed upon will be permanent.

No Dealings With Autocrats.

"Moreover, it does not appear that the heart of the present difficulty has been reached. It may be that future wars have been brought under the control of the German people, but the present war has not been; and it is with the present war that we are dealing. It is evident that the German people have no means of commanding the acquiescence of the military authorities of the empire in the popular will; that the power of the king of Prussia to control the policy of the empire is unimpaired; that the determining initiative still remains with those who have hitherto been the masters of Germany.

"Feeling that the whole peace of the world depends now on plain speaking and straightforward action, the president deems it his duty to say, without any attempt to soften what may seem harsh words, that the nations of the world do not and can not trust the word of those who have hitherto been the masters of German policy, and to point out once more that in concluding peace and attempting to undo the infinite injuries and injustices of this war, the government of the United States can not deal with any but veritable representatives of the German peoples who have been assured of a genuine constitutional standing as the real rulers of Germany. If it must deal with the military masters and the monarchial autocrats of Germany now, or if it is likely to have to deal with them later in regard to the international obligations of the German empire, it must demand, not peace negotiations, but surrender. Nothing can be gained by leaving this essential thing unsaid."

WILL HAMMER FOE
ALL WINTER LONG

(American Press)

Paris, Oct. 24.—Unless they are saved by their peace plea, indications are that the Germans will be given no respite this winter.

It is pointed out that decreased activity on the part of the allies would enable the Germans to recuperate to such a degree as to make certain a prolongation of the struggle. During previous winters the enemy has been able to rest up his forces and replenish his supplies, especially ammunition, and there is no reason to believe he would not avail himself of the same opportunity now and to a much greater advantage.

There are two places on the front where it is conceded that military operations during the winter will be virtually impossible, but American officers insist that 75 per cent of the front offers no real obstacle to a continuation of the fight. It is not questioned that operations will be slowed down, but even so the advantage will be with the attacking side, especially since it is known that German material is growing scarcer.

Last winter was much more severe than is ordinarily the case, and those responsible for plans of campaign calculate that by the law of averages the coming winter will be milder. It is indicated that the Americans are settled definitely into their present positions northwest of Verdun, and their part in the general program is well defined.

It is to be expected that they will continue to deliver short, smashing jolts against the pivotal center of the long, sweeping line. The big gains made between the American front and the sea are conceded to have been due in large measure to the menacing demonstration by the Americans and by the enforced employment by the Germans of 30 divisions before the Americans. The enemy will be compelled to continue to mass forces of men and materials in front of General Pershing's troops at the expense of other places, because to fail to hold the line between the Meuse and Grandpre would endanger an enormous area.

Nobody from Good Hope has been hurt that I know of, or Clarksburg either. Ralph Adams is a second lieutenant, and Wilbur Adams is a wagoner in the supply company. Glen Ater is a bugler and I am a corporal. Fred Wagoner is a stable sergeant in the supply company and Fred Rittenhouse has six months behind the lines on account of flat feet. James Parks is a corporal so you see all of us are something.

I don't know what all of the people will think of me not writing. I haven't written for a month and I don't know when I will get a chance to write. I think I will soon be back for Germany wants peace now and Wilson won't give it to them and I hope he will let us kill all for what they have done to the poor French people. When we go over the top they get down on their knees and begin working machine guns with their toes and hollering "Kamrad" and just shooting H—out of things.

Bystanders were at a loss to say who was at fault, or whether both were equally responsible.

The crash seems to have been due to the question in this city as to whether a machine on a "main" street has the right-of-way over a machine coming into the main thoroughfare from one of the other streets.

SOLDIERS' LETTERS

Somewhere in France.

September 19, 1918.

Wilbur is O. K. as far as I know. I am in the hospital now but am feeling fine. Would like to go back to the Company, but I will have to go on back to another camp and then back to the Company. I wasn't wounded; I was just sick and nothing dangerous so don't think anything about it.

From what I can hear they are capturing lots of prisoners; something like 8,000 or more in the drive that is on now. I don't care if they get them all before I get back.

Nobody from Good Hope has been hurt that I know of, or Clarksburg either. Ralph Adams is a second lieutenant, and Wilbur Adams is a wagoner in the supply company. Glen Ater is a bugler and I am a corporal. Fred Wagoner is a stable sergeant in the supply company and Fred Rittenhouse has six months behind the lines on account of flat feet. James Parks is a corporal so you see all of us are something.

I don't know what all of the people will think of me not writing. I haven't written for a month and I don't know when I will get a chance to write. I think I will soon be back for Germany wants peace now and Wilson won't give it to them and I hope he will let us kill all for what they have done to the poor French people. When we go over the top they get down on their knees and begin working machine guns with their toes and hollering "Kamrad" and just shooting H—out of things.

Bystanders were at a loss to say who was at fault, or whether both were equally responsible.

The crash seems to have been due to the question in this city as to whether a machine on a "main" street has the right-of-way over a machine coming into the main thoroughfare from one of the other streets.

IT'S NOT YOUR HEART; IT'S YOUR KIDNEYS

Kidney disease is no respecter of persons. It attacks all classes, regardless of age, sex or conditions. A majority of the ills afflicting people today can be traced back to the kidney trouble.

The kidneys are the most important organs of the body. They are the filters, the purifiers, of your blood. If the poisons which are swept from the tissues by the blood are not eliminated through the kidneys, disease of one form or another will claim you as a victim.

Kidney disease is usually indicated by weariness, sleeplessness, nervousness, despondency, backache, stomach trouble, difficulty when urinating, pain in loins and lower abdomen, gall stones, gravel, rheumatism, sciatica and lumbago.

All these derangements are nature's way of telling you that you have cured yourself, continue to take one or two capsules each day, so as to keep in first class condition and ward off the danger of other attacks.

Ask for the original imported GOLD MEDAL brand. Three sizes. Money refunded if they do not help you.

"ENEMY AT GATES" SAYS CHANCELLOR

(American Press)

Copenhagen, Oct. 24.—Frank admission of the military peril facing Germany was made in Chancellor Maximilian's address to the reichstag. "The enemy is at our gates," he declared, and warned the people against circulating "unjust charges" against the army. This can be accepted as referring to reports concerning the poor defense put up by certain German units, of which the high command already has taken official cognizance.

The chancellor spoke under the assumption that President Wilson will reply to Dr. Solz's latest note, and expressed the belief that the president will clarify the question whether it is to be a "peace of violence or justice." He said that free discussion with the allies and not Germany's strength will decide what is right. In order to attain internationalism through a league of nations, Germany must abandon the "national egoism which until recently dominated her national life," he said. The chancellor said Germany would not submit to a peace of violence without a fight.

Prince Maximilian dilated on new political "reforms" now before the reichstag, including a widening of the chancellor's responsibilities and representation. He said the new system of imperial government includes representation of Alsace-Lorraine in the provincial government, through delegates appointed by the government and the secretary of state.

TURN CLOCKS BACK SATURDAY EVENING

Saturday night of this week, at nine o'clock—or earlier if that time interferes with time of retiring—will witness a general turning back of all clocks and watches just one hour.

Nine o'clock is the time when the court house clock will be turned back, so that it will then be only eight o'clock instead of nine, and under the arrangement it will be broad daylight at the hour of six o'clock, mornings instead of just breaking day as at the present time. Also darkness will come at a correspondingly early period each evening.

Jewelers recommend that clocks be stopped for one hour instead of being turned back, as turning the hands back is said to disarrange the time-piece.

Railroads change time at two o'clock Sunday morning.

MEMOIR.

Ursell M. Reynolds, daughter of John and Celia Nelson, was born at Manara, Ohio, May 1st, 1893. She died after an illness of only one short week, her life covering a period of twenty-five years, five months and seven days.

At the age of five years, Ursell and her younger sister Lela were deprived of a mother's love and care. The two girls grew to womanhood, guided by a kind and loving father, dearly devoted to each other and loved by all who came to know them.

At an early age she was converted at Otterbine under the ministry of Rev. Vandergriff. A short time after she was baptized at the Baptist church at Washington C. H. and later moved her letter of membership to the little country church at Harmony.

When eighteen years of age she was united in marriage with Harry M. Reynolds, who feels, beyond the expression of any words, the loss of a companionable and lovable wife.

Ursell, being of a sunny, cheerful disposition, numbered her friends by the score. All of whom unite with a devoted husband, a loving father, step-mother, sister and brother-in-law to mourn her sudden departure.

While our hearts are breaking with grief we know that behind the cloud the sun is still shining for we know that what is our loss is her gain, and while she leaves loved ones here on earth, she goes to join her mother and baby brother, who have gone before her into the Great Beyond.

Thank God for the faith that teaches

When the struggles of life are o'er

We shall meet our own dear loved ones

And shall know them all once more.

Even though life be dreary and we tread its path alone.

Yet when the journey is ended in heaven we'll meet our own.

CARD OF THANKS.

We desire to thank our neighbors and friends who so kindly assisted during the illness and death of our beloved wife, daughter and sister, Mrs. U. M. Reynolds; also those who sent such beautiful floral remembrances. We desire also to thank the minister, Rev. Vandergriff and the undertaker, Mr. Elmer Clever, for their kind words of sympathy and attention.

WILL PERMIT NO TRIFLING NOW

(American Press)

Columbus, Oct. 24.—James E. Bauman, acting state health commissioner, announced he will stand for no trifling in regard to influenza regulations while the epidemic is as prevalent as now. There is no lifting of closing orders anywhere without his permission. Application for authority is to be made to him. After the epidemic is clearly on the wane, it is said, blanket authority may be issued to local health officers to use their judgment, but this is not expected for several weeks.

A number of municipal health officers have been removed by local boards on request of the state department. If local boards refuse, Bauman says, the state will remove the boards. Dr. E. J. Schwartz was sent to Bellaire with instructions to have the health officer, Dr. D. W. Boone, removed and some one else put in charge. Bauman says Dr. Boone has refused to take the situation seriously.

Sixty-four of 80 cities in Ohio reported 5,144 new cases and 214 deaths.

Two physicians sent out by the United States public health service in Ohio have contracted influenza.

HUGE BOMBER IS AT WRIGHT FIELD

One of the largest bombing planes in America is now located at the Wright aviation field, where it will be used for training bombing squads.

The plane is the "Langley" and recently arrived at the field after a successful flight from Mineola, Long Island.

The monstrous plane has a wing spread of 100 feet, or more than as great again as the DeHaviland or training planes that have visited this city. It is driven by two huge Liberty motors and carries seven passengers. The seven passengers were carried from Mineola.

It was necessary to fold the wings of the huge plane before the largest hangar on the Wright field could accommodate the big fellow.

When in active bombing use the machine carries five machine guns and many hundreds of pounds of bombs.

ROB EXPRESS CAR

(American Press)

Hamilton, Ont., Oct. 24.—A lone bandit held up an express messenger and his assistant in the express car of a Grand Trunk railroad train as it was leaving Sunnyside, obtained a sealed bag containing $20,000 and leaped from the train. A few hours later the authorities were notified that a man carrying a satchel had flourished a revolver in front of the chauffeur of an automobile near Sunnyside, compelled the driver to alight and had driven away in the machine.
